
KYVERA BULL

THE KINGDOM OF THE BULLS

A community-owned Solana token. Whitepaper v1.0 — July 2026

This document describes the design, token allocation, and intended utility of KYVERA Bull (the “Token”). It is provided for informational purposes only and does not constitute financial, investment, or legal advice.

CHAPTER ONE

I. Origins

KYVERA Bull began as a Solana-native community token with a simple premise: no presale, no private allocation, and no team wallet unlocking quietly in the background. The project launched fair, with the same entry point available to everyone at the same time.

The bull was chosen as the project's emblem for what it represents in trading culture — conviction, momentum, and a willingness to move forward. Every part of the brand, from the Kingdom Map to the Hall of Legends collection, is built around that idea of a community charging together rather than a small group leading from behind closed doors.

CHAPTER TWO

II. Tokenomics & Governance

KYVERA Bull has a fixed total supply with no ongoing inflation mechanism. Allocation is split across five categories, summarized below. The team allocation is time-locked for 12 months from launch, and the lock is trackable on-chain via the address published in the Treasure Room section of the site.

Allocation	Share	Purpose
Community & Liquidity	40%	Initial liquidity pool and community distribution
Ecosystem Rewards	25%	Missions, leaderboard, and community incentive programs
Public Circulation	15%	Open market circulation from day one
Team (12-month lock)	12%	Core contributors, time-locked and publicly trackable
Treasury & Partnerships	8%	Future exchange listings, audits, and partnerships

Governance decisions that materially affect tokenomics (for example, future treasury spending) are intended to be proposed and discussed openly with the community before execution, rather than decided privately by the core team.

CHAPTER THREE

III. The Hall of Legends

The Hall of Legends is a collection of thirteen founding-bull sigils, each with its own rarity tier, domain, and visual identity within the Kingdom — from the Emperor Bull ruling the Royal Castle to the Shadow Bull moving unseen through the Kingdom Map's outer reaches.

The crest artwork shown across the site today is the in-house sigil style used during the community-building phase. Full painted illustrations for each bull are planned to arrive with the collection's mint, at which point mint mechanics, pricing, and supply per rarity tier will be published in full ahead of time.

Holding a Hall of Legends piece is intended to carry utility within the Kingdom ecosystem — for example, recognition on the Leaderboard and access to community missions — rather than functioning as a promise of financial return.

CHAPTER FOUR

IV. Roadmap

The roadmap below reflects current intent and priorities. Like any early-stage community project, the order and timing of these milestones can shift in response to what the community actually needs.

Phase 1 — Foundation: Fair launch on Solana, initial liquidity, community channels (Telegram, X, Discord) established.

Phase 2 — The Kingdom: Interactive Kingdom Map, Treasure Hunt, missions and leaderboard live on the website.

Phase 3 — Hall of Legends: Full artwork commissioned, mint mechanics and rarity distribution published, collection minted.

Phase 4 — Expansion: Exchange listing outreach, third-party audit, and expanded community governance tooling.

CHAPTER FIVE

V. Security & Fair Launch

No presale and no private allocation means every wallet, including the team's, entered the market on the same terms as the public.

The team allocation described in Chapter II is time-locked for 12 months, with the lock contract and address published publicly so anyone can verify it on-chain rather than take it on faith.

A third-party smart-contract audit is planned ahead of any exchange-listing push; results will be published in full, including any issues found, not just a summary.

VI. Risk Disclosure

KYVERA Bull is a speculative digital token. It has no intrinsic value and no guaranteed return, and its price can move sharply in either direction with little warning.

Nothing in this whitepaper or on the KYVERA Bull website is financial, investment, tax, or legal advice. Do your own research and only ever spend what you can genuinely afford to lose.

Cryptocurrency markets are lightly regulated in many jurisdictions and carry risks including but not limited to price volatility, smart-contract risk, liquidity risk, and the possibility of total loss of funds.
